Want to be “on the AIR?” Join AIR and moderator Chris Tucker—composer and former WRR music director/on-air personality—for this interactive time to talk about the arts—what you’ve liked, what you want to see, and where you can see it. “AIR Time,” using a radio show format, features a guest “artist” during each program who shares about their art. What kind of art? AIR paints “art” with a very broad brush so “art” could be anything from sculpture to culinary arts, from landscape art to tap dancing, or from book arts to art and technology. These recorded sessions will be podcast at a later date.

AIR’s featured artist in February is David Fisher—Executive Director of the Turtle Creek Chorale. Discover what David has to say about the business of art and his experience managing arts groups, directing plays, creating programming and setting a standard as a leader in the arts community. His experience includes serving as the Asst. Director of Cultural Affairs for the City of Dallas; directing Echo Theatre’s award-winning “Cloud Nine”; and acting as the interim General Manager of WRR Classical 101.1 FM. David truly has a wealth of experiences to share!

AIR Time sessions include complimentary wine and cheese.
Don’t miss this engaging evening of conversation and sharing.
What will you be talking about on the way home?
